OUR STORY

RTC began as a group of friends, seeking artistic growth and an opportunity to create and produce their own productions to share with the community. Over the past few years, they have produced many musical cabarets, staged readings, master classes and 15 full-scale theatrical productions, two of which, were original musicals, written by local artists.

What started off as a fun project in the back room of a ballet studio, has now turned into a thriving theatre company.

Our mission has always been to create and share performances with the community as we continue to remain dedicated to the lifelong pursuit of artistic growth.

WHO WE ARE TODAY

We are now a company of professional performers focused on producing virtual shows, live productions and original works.RTC also hosts a variety of youth performance workshops and outreach programs.

The RTC studio is a cozy black box theatre, nestled in the beautiful town of Healdsburg, right off the main Square.

ICE THEATRE

Introducing a new professional branch of RTC: Redwood Ice Theatre Company.

RITC features professional figure skaters and world competitors in both live and virtual productions.

Our ice theatre began when the COVID pandemic forced the closure of the arts industry around the world. When most theaters and performance venues had gone dark, we wanted to find new, innovative ways to share a little inspiration and joy.

RITC has produced a series of professional outdoor and studio productions on artificial ice, as a free gift to the community.

Our goal is to create high level productions and make professional ice skating shows more accessible to the general public.

RITC has recently entered into a partnership with the famous Snoopy's Home Ice rink in Santa Rosa. This partnership will allow RITC to create new "on ice" productions, as we still continue to produce outdoor shows on artificial ice.

All of these projects were professionally filmed and can still be found on our website.

Since the theatre community was unable to host live productions due to the COVID-19 pandemic, RTC created a virtual show series in collaboration with FTA Productions.

These shows were designed to be a free gift for the community. The purpose was to spread some joy and inspiration during the difficult shut-down.

This series was such a success, RTC is now planning to continue creating regular virtual shows in the future.
